Costello supports public health

A collaboration between SJIC tenant Costello Medical Consulting and the PHG Foundation in Cambridge could offer a positive impact on the number of children with birth defects.

The literature review provided by Costello Medical will contribute to providing governments in low and middle income countries with tools and data to tackle birth defects.

As part of this collaboration, Costello Medical is also a member of the Born Healthy community, supporting the call for countries to act now to give children a healthy future.

The team at Costello Medical are enthusiastically dedicated to the delivery of effective healthcare globally but not only on a commercial scale. They seek to devote time to pro bono projects in which their knowledge can be applied to affect a real public health benefit.

UFFB raises £9.8m in business finance

Banks, grant and equity are all part of the £9.8m of business finance raised through the Understanding Finance for Business programme (UFFB).

The free programme delivered by St John's Innovation Centre and funded by EEDA, has supported over 1,000 businesses across the East of England understand and source the right type of funding they need to grow.

UFFB ends on January 1st 2012, therefore we encourage you to book your place today.

The next workshop is July 13 at St John's Innovation Centre.

Book today by visiting www.stjohns.co.uk/finance or email events@stjohns.co.uk

The Swift Team

SJIC tenant Argon Design employee and Team Swift have so far raised £72,000 and a further £5,800 in gift aid for an army charity, in memory of Major James Joshua Bowman. The team came second in their category in the Race Across America. Well done!

Travel Plan Plus

Remember, employees based at St John Innovation Park, are automatic members of the Travel for Work Partnership.

Not only does this mean access to services such as assistance for employers in creating a Travel Plan, but also all commuters get special discounts on bicycles, bicycle accessories and train tickets.

Conference & Catering

For the first time in five years and as a result of ever increasing costs, the restaurant will increase prices by a small amount.

The new prices will take effect from July 5th 2011.

For example, a main meal will now cost £3.25, vegetables 80p and potatoes/chips 90p.

Environmentally friendly Water

The existing plastic water bottles have now been replaced with environmentally-friendly, reusable bottles.

All bottles must be returned to the restaurant or left in the designated collection point within each kitchen area of the building.
